BARBADOS, December 12, 1752.

To His Excellency the Honourable HENRY GREENVILLE, Esq; His Majesty's Captain-General and Governor in Chief, in and over the Islands of Barbados, St. Lucia, Dominico, St. Vincent, Tobago, and all the rest of the Islands, Colonies, and Plantations in America, commonly called or known by the Name of the Carribbee-Islands, lying and being to Windward of Guardaloup; Chancellor, Ordinary, and Vice-Admiral of the same.

The Humble ADDRESS of the under-written Members of His Majesty's Council, being all that are resident on the Island.

May it please your Excellency,

THE conſciouſneſs of having endeavour'd faithfully to diſcharge the duties of our ſtation, has at no time yielded us higher ſatisfaction, than when your excellency has been pleas'd to expreſs your kind approbation of ſuch our endeavours: Which as it muſt, on the one hand, heighten, if it be poſſible, our eſteem of your excellency, ſo muſt it, on the other, neceſſarily engage our perſeverance in the ſame courſe, which has ſo happily recommended us to your excellency's favour, and ſo firmly eſtabliſh'd an unanimity, which will ever be a remarkable characteriſtic of your excellency's ſteady, juſt, impartial, and prudent adminiſtration.

The commands of our moſt gracious ſovereign concerning a reviſal of all the acts, ſtatutes, and ordinances of this iſland, which are of a public nature; and his royal pleaſure, that in lieu of thoſe in force, a compleat and well digeſted body of new laws, be fram'd and paſs'd here, we look upon as a freſh and moſt endearing inſtance, amongſt innumerable others, of his majeſty's conſummate wiſdom and goodneſs; and when we ſee the inſtruction relating thereto, which your excellency has order'd to be laid before us, we are very confident they will appear in the ſame amiable light, you have been pleas'd to repreſent them. It is indeed, perfectly agreeable to what we, in particular, at this diſtance, have already experienced, and entirely correſponds with his majeſty's tender affection for, and paternal care of all his ſubjects in general, throughout his dominions. Such a ſeries of royal benevolence muſt juſtly claim our admiration, our obedience, our gratitude!

The laws as they now ſtand, tho' well intended, it is too evident are, in many reſpects, doubtful, confus'd, and indigeſted; and therefore require that happy expedient which his majeſty has graciouſly pointed out; an expedient, which, if executed with the circumſpection and judgment ſo arduous and noble an undertaking requires, and deſerves, cannot fail of producing the moſt ſalutary, the moſt beneficial, and the moſt laſting effects. One circumſtance we more particularly felicitate ourſelves in, which is, that ſo weighty and difficult a work is to be ſet on foot, and promoted, while we have the advantage of your excellency's great abilities, uncommon talents, and ſuperior turn of mind, for the direction and conduct of it.

For our own parts, we ſhall not only, without loſs of time, embrace the favourable opportunity to benignly put into our hands by his majeſty, the beſt of kings, and ſo warmly recommended by your excellency, the beſt of governors, but with the utmoſt chearfulneſs, and deepeſt ſenſe of gratitude, improve every moment of this happy juncture; wherein if the deſirable end be not effectually accompliſhed, we ſhall have but little room to hope for, or expect it, in any future period.

As we entertain the ſame opinion with your excellency of the exceeding importance of the deſign, and are fully convinc'd that it is the moſt uſeful and intereſting that ever did, or ever can, engage the attention of the legiſlature here; ſo we have the moſt unqueſtionable aſſurance of your excellency's zealous concurrence in, and earneſt deſire to bring it to perfection.—— That all proper meaſures may be fallen upon for attaining the great end propos'd, and that this glorious event may, be added to the many other bleſſings which the preſent inhabitants of this his majeſty's colony enjoy, and which their lateſt poſterity will be ſenſible of, as the diſtinguiſh'd marks of your excellency's, unequal'd government, is our moſt fervent and ſincereſt wiſh.

We are with the higheſt ſentiments of eſteem and reſpect,

Your Excellency's,

Moſt Dutiful, moſt Faithful, and Moſt Obedient humble Servants.
